

The object on the left has been reflected in the vertical mirror line to give the image on the right.

False

A reflection of the object would give this image on the right.

